TIDAL BASIN BATHING BEACH CLOSES SUCCESSFUL SEASON

Improvements, Including Floating Chlorine Boat for Water Purification, Met Approval of D. C. Swimmers.

The tidal basin bathing beach will be operated today for the last time this season, much to the regret of many of its numerous patrons, who, on account of the mildness of the weather, had hoped it might be continued several weeks longer. Since its opening to the public in 1919 it has proved one of the most popular institutions in the District and has furnished healthful recreation for a large number of people. Col. Barrett, the engineer officer in charge, considers it one of the most important recreational features under the office of public buildings and grounds.

Will Accommodate 9,000. "Each year since the bathing beach was installed," Col. Barrett states, "additions have been made to meet the continuous increases in demand, until now approximately 9,000 bathers can be taken care of each day without undue crowding. That result has been made possible only through the successful application of chlorine purification by means of the floating chlorine boat installed this summer. Previous to this year, chlorination has been effected by means of a fixed plant installed at the inlet gates. The objection to this was it was necessary to chlorinate the incoming mass of water passing into the basin, which made the cost quite high. Under the new system, the chlorine is largely limited to the water actually used by the bathers, as the chlorine boat passes back and forth through this area several times each day. Recently tests by the public health service indicate that a most of the bacteria are eliminated by this process. Whereas the Potomac river water, before entering the basin, is highly contaminated, the water used by the bathers is entirely safe and free from dangerous germs."

Lockers Charge Covered Cost. "One of the improvements in administration made at the bathing beach this year, consisted in distributing the cost of operation over the entire number of bathers by a small locker charge. Heretofore, the cost of operation was paid largely by the limited number of bathers, who desired to rent suits."

Sanitary Improvements. "Another improvement that will be effected next season will be a more thorough sanitary inspection of the bathing facilities in the basin and in Rock Creek by the sanitary inspector, recently detailed for duty under this office. Maj. Baker, who has been assigned to that duty, has had extensive experience in sanitary matters, having recently had a tour of duty on sanitary work in Poland. He will be charged with all matters relating to the testing of the water and the sanitary condition of foodstuffs, also the sanitary inspection of locker rooms and comfort stations.

"During the early part of the summer, the water condition in Rock Creek Park was such as to cause serious apprehension to this office, and to make it appear more than likely that all swimming therein would have to be forbidden in the interest of health, but the automatic chlorinating plant which has been installed recently, has proved so successful as to give assurance that the younger generation will have ample swimming holes at their disposal next summer without any fear of contaminated water."

LAW COMMITTEE NAMED.

Georgetown Faculty Members to Study Scholarship Applications. A special committee has been appointed to study the law school of the District high school and college students for the two and three year scholarships offered by the law school, was announced last night by Dean Hugh J. Fegan. Dean George E. Hamilton is chairman. Other members are Chief Justice Constantine J. Smyth of the District Court of Appeals, James A. A. Hoehling of the District Supreme Court, Daniel W. O'Donoghue and Jesse C. Adkins, former assistant attorney general. All are members of the school faculty.

Mr. Fegan also announced that no applications for the scholarships will be received after September 26. Owing to the interest in the new day course, which is open to the successful candidates for the scholarships, the number of applications has far exceeded expectations. Other scholarships are being offered by the alumni associations in the principal cities of the country, but this is the first time that the Georgetown Law School has made the offer to local students.

COL. CARLETON RETIRED.
Col. Guy Carleton, cavalry, attached to the inspector general's department and recently stationed at San Francisco, has been placed on the retired list on account of age. He held the temporary rank of brigadier general and major general during the world war, and received the distinguished service medal for efficiency.

He is a native of Texas, and was graduated from the Military Academy in June, 1881. Most of his service was in the cavalry arm, in which he reached the grade of colonel in October, 1915. Several years ago he was on duty at the Army War College, this city.

COME FROM MANY LANDS.

Marine Recruits Past Year Represent Nearly Every Country. While the majority of marines are native-born, recruits from almost every country in the world enlisted in the corps during the last fiscal year, according to a report compiled by Marine Corps headquarters. The total American-born numbered 13,735, and the alien-born recruits numbered 1,124. All the European countries are represented, and there are recruits from Java, Madagascar, Egypt, Syria and from several of the Latin American republics.

Time to Get Ready for School
Sending a boy to school well dressed is starting him off in the right direction. Dress him his best—and you'll bring out the best that's in him. This year, just as in the past 28 years, we are all ready to outfit Sonny from head to foot. Our merchandise was never better nor our prices fairer. A few examples are listed below:
P-B Boys' Suits for School
$12.75
With 2 Pairs of Knickers
Sturdy, stylish, all-wool suits that can not be equaled anywhere at this price. Fancy fabrics in tweeds, cassimeres and chevots. Carefully made for boys who are not careful with their clothes. Shop the city and you will find this is its leading value.
Crompton Corduroy School Suits
$9.75
With 2 Pairs of Knickers
Another splendid special which we are featuring on the eve of the opening of school. These suits are made expressly for us and this accounts for their superior workmanship—and added wear they give the boy.
